A "BUSTED" COLONY. The Altrurians at Mark West Give

Up in Despair.
(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

SANTA ROSA, Feb. 19.—(Special Dispatch.) The Altrurians who located at Mark West, a few miles from here, a few months ago, have decided to aban don their colony. The struggle to maintain the colony on the land se-lected proved too much for them and they have capitulated to that fate which sooner or later seems to triumph over such socialistic movements.

At a recent meeting resolutions were adopted stating that, owing to lack of resources and disappointment in their expectations, the association would disband as a colony. The association, nowever, will be maintained for such work as it finds feasible under its articles of incorporation.

Considerable improvement has been made on their Mark West place sinc they took possession. A big hotel has been put un a number of small cot-tages have been built and a good deal of money and hard labor have been ex-pended by the colonists. Just what will be done with the hotel is not yet known. Many Altrurians left the place some time ago. Some went to Cloverdale last summer. There were some dissensions, and things did not run as smoothly as was desired. But the character of the soil and the inexperience of members in farming were the character of the soil and the inex-perience of members in farming were undoubtedly the chief causes in the abandonment of the colony. The members have made many friends since they came here. They have shown themselves to be good cit-izens, and that their Bellamy princi-ples could not be successfully carried out is regretted by everybody inter-ested in the movement.

Lifeless Bodies in the Vulcan Mine.

Only Four Corpses Recovered at a Late Hour.

Twenty Rescuers Overcome by Noxious Gases.

Work of Recovering the Dead Hinered by Conditions in the Mine. John French Owes His Life to His Eyes-another Escape.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEWCASTLE (Colo.) Feb. 19.—The principal work at the wrecked Vulcan mine today has been the pumping of air into the drifts to drive out the smoke and gas so as to permit rescuing parties to reach the bodies of the victims. The total number of killed is now known to be 48. All others whose names appear on the company's ooks have been accounted for. Only eight of the dead men were married. Up to 6 o'clock this evening but four bodies had been recovered, including that of Ed Welch, the rope-rider, who was killed at the mouth of the mine.

Examinations so far made show that the workings to the west of the main stope are badly wrecked, and it may require days of labor to clear the pas-sages so as to reach the dead miners. The eastern portion of the mine is not damaged much, and it is thought no difficulty will be found in exploring it when the bad air is driven out.

Work was temporarily stopped about noon today for the purpose of flooding the stopes and chambers of the mine with air, and of driving out, if possible, gas and menacing dangers that remained after yesterday's explosion. All night shifts of men, working two hours, were kept employed putting up an air fan in the place of those destroyed. Simultaneously crews of five to ten men-were sent into the death-trap by way of the main stope entrance and the air passage to work their way, if possible, to where the bodies of the dead men lay.

This work was accompanied with the most imminent peril, owing to the black damp with which the mine was filled. Fully twenty men were carried to the outer air overcome by the noxious gases. Work was temporarily stopped about

Fully twenty men were carried to the outer air overcome by the noxious gases.

The work being thus impeded, progress was slow, and the results discouragingly small. At noor today 500 feet of the main stope had been penetrated, and three bodies brought out. The first body was that of Abel Dore, a boy. The second was that of Joe Dore, brother of Abel, and the third was that of Frank Simons, a carpenter, brought out at 2 o'clock. As the work goes on it becomes apparent that the mine has not caught fire.

John French is the only man alive who can tell anything about the conditions existing in the mine just prior to the explosion. He was employed in the main air passages yesterday morning mending some of the timbering, and owes his life to the fact that the gases in the passage had become so bad at 11 o'clock that his eyes gave out, and he was compelled to quit work and seek the outside air.

Rev. E. N. Mallery of the Glenwood Springs Methodist Church, has started a fund for the relief of the relatives of the dead.

CHECKED UP THE LAMPS.

DENVER, Feb. 19.—A special to the Times from Newcastle, Colo., says that at 11:30 o'clock today when the work of rescue was temporarily stopped for the purpose of flooding the slope and chambers of the mine with air the Vulcan mine had yielded up four of its dead. How many more bodies remain within is still a matter for conjecture, but the most reliable estimate is forty-but the most reliable estimate is fortyseven.

The officials of the Vulcan Fuel Company have checked up fifty-one lamps given out yesterday morning. It will probably be found that four or five more were given out, but the number of victims in any event is not likely to exceed fifty-six.

John French was today the center of a curious throng. He is the mine carpenter who came out of the Vulcan mine yesterday twenty minutes before the explosion. The gases became so thick that his eyes gave out and he was obliged to quit work. Mine Inspector Griffith, who is now on the ground, says this is the worst colliery disaster that ever occurred in America.
The officials of the Vulcan Company and others in authority are conferring as to how to proceed with the work of clearing the mine.

STORY OF AN EYE-WITNESS. DENVER (Colo.,) Feb. 19.—W. H. Medaris, a young miner who arrived in this city today from Newcastle, was an eye-witness of the terrible explosion yesterday. one of the Dore boys, three of whom were killed, but at the last moment his plans were changed.

Medaris says the explosion was caused in the same mine eight years ago. Gas, combined with coal dust, forms an excellent medium for an explosion, especially when there is a blow-out shot behind it. In this case, he says, the shot was probably not well tamped, the tamper blowing out, and the flame set off the gas and dust.

Great precautions were taken in the mine to avoid an explosion. The men were all required to carry safety lamps and were not allowed to have any to-bacco or matches. The Italians, however, were careless, Medaris says. The explosion shook the town, a mile and a half from the mine. People rushed from their houses and say that the mountain appeared to be only a mass of smoke and dust.

Only one body had been recovered when Medaris left Newcastle last night. It was that of Joe Dore, and was found about two hundred feet from the mount of the mine. He was coming out when the explosion occurred, and in two minutes more would have been safe. Medaris says the scenes at the mine and in Newcastle were of a most heart-rending nature.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

LONDON, Feb. 19 .- (By Atlantic Ca ble.) The Westminster Gazette this af-ternoon urges the Marquis of Salisbury to reply quickly to the American proposal in regard to the appointment of a joint British and American conciliation committee, saying: "There can be no doubt as to what the reply would be to a Minister who would set his neck against arbitration. We are free to accept the conciliation which America proposes and the only possible hitch is the possible objection of Venezuela to the matter being taken out of her hands, and Great Britain and the United States treating it as a question between themselves. For us there is a positive advantage in being vis-a-vis, with the United States and not with Venezuela. America is claiming the dispute as her own; she must also assume the reasonable and consequental liability of going ball for Venezuela. We at least have nothing to complain of."

A DOUBTFUL REPORT. NEW YORK, Feb. 20 .- A special to

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—A special to the World from Caracas, Venezuela, says that a private cable dispatch from London reports, on what is said to be good authority though not official, that England has decided to accept the boundary between British Gulana and Venezuela which may be fixed by the United States commission.

The students in the engineering department of the University of Caracas have organized two batteries of artillery to be commanded by Capt. Dausson, a retired French officer. The government has ordered eight 12-pound Hotchkiss mountain guns.

The carnival began on Sunday. In the procession were many floats suggested by the Guiana question.

SOME EDITORIALS. LONDON, Feb. 19.—A Washington dispatch to the Times with reference to aspatch to the Times with reference to an editorial in that paper yesterday, which was cabled to the United States, says: "It is agreed here that the gov-ernments would be only bound by a majority of the original members of the joint Venezuelan Commission. The Times editorial referred to expressed the conviction that a provise to this effect would have to go with the plan for the appointment of a joint commis for the appointment of a joint commission."

With reference to the growing agitation in America in favor of a Board of International Arbitration the Washington dispatch to the Times says: "The movement here will lend strength to the movement in England and Lord Salisbury will find himself face to face with an organized effort, well led and formidably supported, with unusual means of securing such attention and support as will enable President Cleveland to renew and press his proposal. All this might die peaceably away if Lord Salisbury consented to the complete arbitration of the Venezuelan dispute."

In an editorial the Times contends that the method of procedure now suggested does not favor a rapid disposal of the disputed question, but would rather deal with a detailed investigation of different districts which would be a work of time. "What is wanted now is an exact understanding as a basis for the condition on which an arbitration ought to proceed. On the other hand it is not necessary to wait until we can formally ratify an agreement on the whole question. It is highly probable that if the proposal for a joint commission were officially submitted England would accept forthwith, with little or no modification. This would save time and would draw the two governments closer."

LONDON, Feb. 19.—A letter to the Times from Georgetown, British Guiana, says it is understood that, as an outcome of the official visit to the frontier in the Uruan district, beginning in February an important dispatch will be sent to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain. The British residents, it is further said, are coöperating with Consul Patterson in collecting data for his government on the boundary question.

The substitute for the bill offered by Mr. McRae of Arkansas to repeal outright the limiting of the act of 1891, was defeated, 72 to 149. Mr. Pickler of South Dakota offered an amendment to the Army Appropriation Bill providing that no officer of the army should be detailed to duty as an Indian agent. It was ruled out on a point of order, as was an amendment offered by Mr. Bowers of Callfornia against the guarding or policing of forest reserves or national parks with troops. Soldiers, Mr. Bowers said, prevented visitors to Yellowstone Park from hunting or fishing without permits, yet on a recent visit to the park he ascertained that the soldiers themselves had slaughtered hundreds of deer. WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(Special Dispatch.) Senator White disavows any interest whatever in the passage of the bill granting to the Kern River and Los Angeles Electric Power Company the right-of-way over and reservation and building sites in the reservation established by the President by proc-lamation numbered No. 38, dated Decemter 20, 1892, and also the right-ofway and similar privileges is the reservation established by proclamation, cated February 1, 189?

Senator White introduced the bill in the Senate by request, as 416 Representative Bowers in the House, but reither of the gentlemen has done anything to push the measure. Without any urging the bill has aiready cassed the Heuse, but is still held up 'n the scrate where it will die for want of n ctive force back of it. The fact is that Senator White does not want the that it is objectionable to him on account of its granting concessions to

There seems to be a rule pretty generally followed by Senators, not only from California, but from other States, to introduce any resolution or bill sent are not too "raw" on their face. The fart that a Senator or Representative introduces a measure is no indication that the member giving it its name. will support it or work for its passage. Thousands of bills are introduced in Congress which are never heard of if they once pass through the hands of the bill clerks.

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

GY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—SENATE: Senator Carter of Montana offered a resolution to recommit the Tariff Bill to the Finance Committee for further consideration. This move by one of the four Republican Senators who voted against taking up the Tariff Bill, caused against taking up the Tarin Bill, caused much interesting comment. Senator Carter did not press the resolution, but said he would like to take it up next Monday, when he would address the Senate. The announcement was accepted as foreshadowing a statement of the attitude and purposes of the silver Senators who voided against considering the Tariff Bill.

Senators who voted against considering the Tariff Bill.

It was definitely arranged that the Cuban question would be taken up at 2 o'clock tomorrow, all appropriation bills thus far reported to the Senate being cleared from the calendar. The Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation Bill was passed during the day.

The close of the day was marked by an amusing controversy between Senator Allen of Nebraska and Senator Call of Florida, which kept the Senators and spectators in roars of laughter for half an hour.

About sixty private pension bills were passed during the day. The bill pensioning the widow of the late Secretary Gresham as brigadier-general, at $200 monthly, with an amendment making the amount $100 monthly, went over without action to permit Senator Voorhees to speak against this amendment.

Soon after the Senate session opened, Senator Hill of New York spoke concerning the hundreds of petitions he has received from all parts of the country as to the prohibition of the sale of beer at Ellis Island, where immigrants arrive. The Senator said he could not see why the sale of beer to immigrants was a serious matter.

"I am inclined to belleve," said Senator Hill, "that a glass of beer would be very welcome to these immigrants when landing in this country. This vast petitioning effort by well-meaning but misguided people is evidence of the 'extreme puritanism, the extreme Rooseveltism' in progress in New York. It is part of the crusade now going on."

Senator Lodge presented a resolution directing the Finance Committee to investigate and report on the circumstances attending the sale of United States bonds during 1894-5-6 and the disposition of the proceeds of such sales. The resolution went over. It is substantially the same as the resolution which lost its parliamentary status yesterday by Senator Hill's speech carrying the debate up to 2 o'clock. It has been agreed that if both Mr. Harris of Ohio and Mr. Lefevre of New York, who were absent from the previous meeting, asked for a reconsideration, it should be entered upon. This leaves the bill in the position it was before a vote taken last week. Members of the committee who have been opposed to reporting the Arizona and New Mexico bill, principally on the ground that the admission of these territories would increase the free-silver strength in the Senate, assert that the action of the committee today has no significance. They declare the Statehood bills are dead for the present session.

It is intimated strongly that the reconsideration today was solely for the purpose of leaving the question at least open. This had been done on the urgent appeal of the Arizona Delegate, Mr. Murphy. Despite the adverse majority in the committee, Mr. Murphy still maintained that the bill will be favorably reported.

The committee today discussed the bill to allow Alaska to be represented in the Houss by a delegate. Although the sentiment of the committee seemed to favor the bill, no action was taken.

THE HAWAIIAN CABLE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The proposition for a telegraphic cable between this country and Hawaii was again unsition for a telegraphic cable between this country and Hawaii was again under consideration by the Sehate Committee on Foreign Relations today, but final consideration was postoned in order to permit further communication with the companies which have made proposals for the construction of the cable line.

The committee has received a communication from President Scrymser of the Pacific Cable Company, binding his company to build the proposed cable to Hawaii within eighteen months after the passage of a bill granting a subsidy of $180,000 a year for twenty years, and agreeing to extend to Japan and China within eighteen months more time. He also proposes other important modifications of the bill which has been introduced in behalf of this organization. One of these is an undertaking to carry messages for the United States government for all time, and not to charge on private telegrams to exceed 35 cents a word to Hawaii and $1.25 per word to China and Japan.

The committee also took up the Petigrew bill providing for the extermination of the Bering Sea seals in case England refuses to submit to further arbitration, but was unable to report on account of the opposition of Senator Morgan, who contends that the provisions made by the Paris tribunal are sufficient to protect the seals if properly administered.

The main features deal with the abolition on the part of the Maguire bills

LIVE STOCK INTERESTS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Officers and members of the executive board of the National Livestock Exchange of Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha were given a hearing by the Senate Committee on Agriculture today. They asked for reciprocal legislation which would open foreign markets to American livestock and while they suggested no special plan, urged the Congress to assist in finding a way to do this. Several speeches were made in which it was stated that the association contained 2000 members and that the livestock interests were the largest single industry in the world. They complained especially of the restrictions placed upon importations of American cattle by foreign countries and contended that there was no foundation for the charge that American livestock was diseased.

Senators Warren, Gear and George were appointed a sub-committee to investigate the question and report.

At the afternoon session the members set about raising funds to carry on the campaign of 1896. New York came forward with a cash subscription and was followed at once by other States. It soon became apparent that all financial difficulty would be overcome. At this juncture a telegram was received from the attorney of the league, congratulating the meeting on the successful outcome of a suit which has been pending since 1888 in Albany in which the league is given $17,000 which it had sued to recover on a literature contract. A telegram of sympathy was sent to Joseph H. Manley of Augusta, Me., a prominent member of the league, reserving the death of his wife. The secretary was instructed to distribute 10,000 copies of T. B. Walker's tariff pamphlet. It was decided to open headquanters for the league at the Lindell hotel in St. Louis and it is. 000 copies of T. B. Walker's tariff pamphlet. Considerable merriment was caused at Stuart's headquarters by a story from Galveston that the fight will be on barges in the Gulf of Mexico of that city. It was to be before the kinetoscope and a few witnesses only. The plan was never thought of here until wired from Galveston and the impossibility of the kinetoscope taking photographs if the water was in the least degree rough is alone enough to put the plan out of the question. All sorts of rumors are afloat as to the location of the battleground, but Stuart is keeping his own counsel and not until tomorrow night will any information be given as to the location and time for departing of the train.

It has been stated that "Pittsburgh Phil" will shortly dispose of his string of horses to local turfmen and retire from the turf until next year. He will visit Europe to enjoy a much-needed rest. Jackson's credibility. One of his principal assailants is a colored Baptist preacher who is serving a sentence in the Ohio penitentiary. Gov. Bushnell knows the colored man Jackson, and is represented as speaking well of him. Detective Morris of Springfield, says Jackson's story is trustworthy.

This afternoon Miss Smith, who is in love with the prisoner, Walling, and admits it, repeated to Mayor Caldwell the story she told at the Palace Hotel to reporters of the Commercial Gazette and Enquirer. It was the same brief story that Jackson had revealed his purpose at Helder's Hotel on January 14. He said Will Wood, a friend of his, had gotten Pearl Bryan into a fix and he was going to put her out of the way to screen Wood.

She also repeated the story of a letter sent to her by Jackson after the murder, saying that he had given the girl medicine that had killed her, and had then beheaded her to prevent recognition. The letter she received from Jackson could not be found today at Listner's, No. 621 Fourth street, Louisville, where she said she had left it.

HOUSTON (Tex.,) Feb. 19.—Capt. J.

H. McGarvey, an old Texas veteran, has just returned from Cuba. On October 16 last he left Key West for Cuba in charge of the Viesta, with a crew of eight men. At Key West the Viesta was loaded with arms and ammunition branded as lard, bacon, etc., and he was instructed to turn the cargo over to an insurgent commander. On reaching the Cuban coast he was chased by a Spanish man-of-war and was compelled to beach his vessel, which he did and then burned it in order to keep the Spanish from getting it. He and his crew struck out from their landing place near Matanzas for the interior, and joined the insurgents. Capt. McGarvey says the Cubans have at least 45,000 men under arms. that they are supplied with guns and ammunition and also receive supplies of money regularly from the United States. He remained with the troops until a fortnight ago, and says he traversed nearly the entire western portion of the island. He says that the Cubans have the Spaniards completely whipped and at their mercy, but he cannot understand why they do not take Havana and bring hostillites to a close. This he claims they can do at any time they see fit. The reports of Spanish victories he brands as a tissue of lies.

READY TO TAKE CUBAN DONDS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A local paper prints an interview with Dr. John Guiteras of the Philadelphia Cuban junta, who says that a syndicate has made an offer to take $15,000,000 bonds if the insurgents are granted belilgerent rights by the United States. The price the syndicate will pay, he says, will be about 40 cents on the dollar, giving the Cubans about $6,000,000. If the insurgents succeed, he asserts, not only will the new bonds be paid, but also those issued during the ten years war. Dr. Guiteras also says that subscriptions have been made by other parties for $5,000,000 bonds on the same condition, that the United States recognize the revolutionists. He says:

"There are a large number of wealthy Cubans in this country. Some of these in New York are millionaires. It is surprising how generously this money has been subscribed by Cubans. Men making but $8 and $10 a week have their names down for a $50 bond. If we could secure $11,000,000 the question of the inadependence of Cuba would only be a matter of a few months. With recognition from this country we could at once put a navy on the waters. There would be no difficulty about our securing the needed vessels." READY TO TAKE CUBAN DONDS.

CROOKE'S TUBES.

Cheaper Method for Experiment-ing with Cathode Rays.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) CHICAGO, Feb. 19.-Prof. Stine he Armour Institute believes he has discovered a practical way of cheap-ening the Crooke's tubes. The profes-sor says just as marked cathode rays can be obtained with a simple plate of tinfoil pasted outside the glass bulb of an incandescent burner as Edison has secured with the cathode plate of platisecured with the cathode plate of platinum placed on the inside. "This is," he said, "proof positive that the cathode ray is not a stream of electric particles, but rather of gaseous molecules under extremely low pressure." The chief value of this discovery. Prof. Stine said, will be the placing of tubes upon the market at a nominal cost. The Crooke's tubes as at present used cost from $6$ to $20$ each, thus making experimental material too expensive for general use.

Dr. Brown's Misdeeds Named by the Council.

The Court is Badly Equipped for Rapid Work.

River-steamer Tyrant-Another Burglar Winged-Fatal Floht Over a Fence-The Bank Robbery. A Big Foreciosure.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.-The Con gregational council which is investigat-ing the charges of immorality and un-ministerial conduct against Rev. C. O. Brown is now fully organized and ready to proceed with the actual trial he accused clergyman.

S. Woodhams, representative of the First Congregational Church, of which Dr. Brown is pastor, was ap-pointed judge-advocate this afternoon, when the council had been convened. The Committee on Charges reported that four charges hed been preferred against Dr. Brown by Sarah B. Cooper, assistant pastor of the church, and by her daughter. Hattle Cooper. The charges, of which proof was promised by those making the charges, are as follows:

First—That the letters written as alleged by Miss Overman in which Dr. Brown was compromised are genuine.
Second—That Dr. Brown in his association with Mrs. Albertine Stockton Second—That Dr. Brown in his asso-ciation with Mrs. Albertine Stockton was unministerial in his conduct. Third—That Dr. Brown had been guilty of intimidation toward Mrs. Lena Blanchard, a non-church

Blanchard, a non-church member voted against Dr. Brown at a recent Congregational meeting when res-olutions of confidence in the pastor were introduced.

Fourth—That Dr. Brown was concerned in conspiracy with Miss Overman to spirit Mrs. Tunnell away so that she could not testify against him that she could not testify against him before the council.

Secondary charges were also introduced charging Dr. Brown with adultery with Miss Overman, conduct prejudicial to the church in paying $500 to Mrs. Davidson to avoid exposure of his alleged liaison with Miss Overman, conduct unbecoming to a minister in recommending Mrs. Davidson as an exemplary Christian woman after the emplary Christian woman after the date on which he paid her the sum of date on which he paid her the sum of $500.

Both reports were accepted and entered as records of the council. Letters from Mrs. Cooper and her daughter were also read to the council. These communications merely reiterated the charges which had been formally preferred against Brown.

Dr. Brown asked that references to Miss Overman in the letters be stricken from the records as being unjust and damaging to that young woman by their utterance.

Judge-Advocate Woodhams was then asked to present the evidence in support of the several charges. No one present had any evidence to offer and Woodhams said he could not go cut to find witnesses if none would voluntarily appear. He thought those preferring charges or having evidence against Dr. Frown should present it. After a long discussion in which Rev. Dr. Williams of the council said that if there was no evidence against Dr.

Crown should present it. After a long discussion in which Rev. Dr. Williams of the council said that if there was no evidence against Dr. Brown the council would have to acquit him, it was decided to adjourn until this evening to procure testimony for the prosecution. It was decided that all witnesses should be sworn before being allowed to testify.

The communication from Miss Harriet Cooper was as follows:

"I charge that Miss Overman (one of the principals in the so-called Brown scandal) was in conspiracy with Mrs. Tunnell, the recipient of the famous Overman letters, and that they roomed together at the Cosmopolitan hotel, corner of Fifth and Mission streets, in the city of San Francisco, one week prior to the arrest of Mrs. Davidson, now awaiting trial, From good authority I learned Mrs. Tunnell was concealed in Dr. Brown's residence, No. 1703 Geary street, San Francisco, and that she (Mrs. Tunnell) was spirited away from the city secretly by Dr. Brown."

Dr. Brown wanted that part of the

Dr. Brown wanted that part of the charge referring to Miss Overman stricken out, as that lady was not on trial. The council decided that it had no power to change the wording of the charge.

Following are the detailed charges against Dr. Brown as arranged by the committee:

Charge 1—Conduct prejudicial to the welfare of the church.
Specification 1—In this, that, knowing Mrs. Davidson to be connected with a conspiracy to extort a large sum of money from himself, he publicly recognized and treated her as a. Christian woman and spoke of her to others in terms of approval, thereby misleading them as to her true character and bringing reproach upon the Christian ministry and scandal upon the church.

Specification 2—In this, that, knowing in his personal experience that Mrs. Stockton was guilty of permitting immodest and improper liberty by the opposite sex, he made no effort as her pastor to recall her to the right path and warn her of the impropriety and danger of her conduct.

Specification 3—In this, that possessed as he was of a knowledge of the facts recited in specification 2, he, the said C. O. Brown, continued his alleged intimacy with Mrs. Stockton, taking her on extended trips over the street railroads and dining with her at public restaurants, without the company or knowledge of his wife.

with her at public restaurants, without the company or knowledge of his wife.

Specification 4—In this, that, knowing of the alleged facts mentioned in the last two specifications, he took no steps to bring them to the attention of the church of which he was pastor and the said Mrs. Stockton a member, but by his silence and conduct toward the said Mrs. Stockton, gave ground for the belief on the part of her fellowmembers of the church that she was living an exemplary Christian life and was worthy of their Christian confidence and sympathy.

Charge 2—Conduct unbecoming a Christian minister.

Specification 1—In this, that said C.O. Brown, while pastor of a Christian church, paid a large sum, namely $500, to Mrs. Davidson, to be used by her in inducing Mrs. Baddin to withhold from the public certain alleged information possessed by her relating to certain scandalous or criminal conduct on the part of said C.O. Brown, which money was paid to Mrs. Davidson covertly and in secret, without telling anyone of any intent in such payment other than to secure the silence of the said Mrs. Baddin and with no provision for any concealed witness of the transaction and conversation connected therewith, through whose testimony the innocent and proper intention prompting the payment could be understood and made apparent.

Charge 3—Immoral conduct
Specification 1—In this, that on the day of —, 189-, the said C.O. Brown is alleged in or near his study to have put his arms around Mrs. Stockton and kissed her under what she took to be strong animal passion.

Specification 2—In this, that he, the said C.O. Brown is alleged to bave been guilty of criminal intercourse with Miss Overman, and of retaining her in his house, knowing that his relations with here were in contravention of the law, both divine and civil.

Dr. Brown objected to any action being taken. The date upon which he was accused of kissing Mrs. Stockton was not specified.

"I object," he said, " to answering charges that read that upon a blank day of blank I did so and so. I am already compelled to defend myself against a woman whose mind has been a blank for ten years or more. I want time and dates."

Dr. Hoyt replied that the committee had not time to get dates, and that the report is based on newspaper clippings. The letters from Mrs. Cooper and her daughter were then read.

Mrs. Cooper read her statement in the most effective manner. It contained about five thousand words and consisted mostly of hearsay evidence, what Mrs. Stockton and other people had told her.

The only direct statements she made were in relation to the Overman letters. These she insisted she knew were written by Miss Overman. She had in her possession letters written by Miss Overman to herself and Miss Stovall. In these the style and general wording are the same as those published which implicate Dr. Brown. In the letters written to Mrs. Tunnell, the authenticity of which it is expected will injure Dr. Brown's reputation beyond repair, Mrs. Cooper concluded the reading of her arraignment of Dr. Brown in a dramatic manner.

"Oh, why does he not confess?" she matic manner.

"Oh, why does he not confess?" she said.

As she uttered the words Dr. Brown's face flushed and he smiled ironically. None of the council smiled in return, Mrs. Cooper was questioned at length by members of the council and Dr. Brown. She came out of the ordeal unscathed, although her testimony was mainly hearsay. She never claimed to have any direct evidence, except in the case of the Overman letters.

except in the case of the Overman letters.

During the evening Dr. Brown admitted that certain letters written him by Mrs. Cooper had been received. He had previously at a prayer-meeting, when Mrs. Cooper said she had written him, denied all knowledge of the letters. Tonight he said that the letters had been delivered at his house and were received by his wife, who opened them and, thinking that the contents were insulting, she had destroyed them without consulting him. The case will go on tomorrow when Mrs. Davidson go on tomorrow when Mrs. Davids will testify.

The originals of the letters published in the Examiner, and which have been held to be the strongest evidence of Dr. Brown's guilt with Miss Overman, have been placed in possession of the council and will be compared with letters known to have been written by Miss Overman.

"It is intimated, Mr. Coyne, that you will endeavor to show that Mr. Stimson's son, whom you accompanied to Mexico, is at the bottom of the conspiracy. Is that true?"

"I prefer not to say much about that at this time. I will wait till Mr. Stimson shows his hand. If he proposes to persecute me and make me out a felon, I will have to defend myself.

Coyne hinted that his defense will be that young Stimson hatched a conspiracy to do his father harm, and that he (Coyne) detected the men who were to carry out the plot, and got himself into trouble through putting the millionaire on his guard and asking pay for his services.

The police work on the theory that Coyne himself originated the plot to scare Mr. Stimson into employing him and possibly others to guard his residence, when by a little practice with firearms occasionally at dead of night they could make the millionaire believe that they were defending him against dangerous foes, and bleed him for large sums in recognition of their valiant, services.

The officers think Coyne had employed one or two persons to help him in his scheme, one of whom exploded the bomb, and they have been hunting for these persons for several days, Detective Auble says the first thing Coyne asked after the warrant was read to him was, "Have you arrested any of the others?" he being apparently supprehensive lest one of his accomplices was in custody and had turned State's evidence.

The detectives themselves do not count much on convicting Coyne on the

was in custody and had turned State's evidence.

The detectives themselves do not count much on convicting Coyne on the charge of assault to murder, and it is probable that a complaint charging him with attempting to extort money by intimidation will be substituted.

Mr. Stimson has nothing to say to reporters further than to remark that Coyne is an unmitigated liar and would-be blackmailer, and that he will reserve his version of Coyne's negotiations with him till he is put on the witness stand.

ROBBER CAPTURED.

One of the two men who made the daring attempt to rob the Los Angeles Postoffice several years ago, when it was on South Broadway, has been arrested in St. Louis for holding up pe-destrians. But his complicity in the rested in St. Louis for holding up pedestrians. But his complicity in the crime might as well have remained undiscovered, for under the statute of limitations he can no longer be prosecuted, since he has been at large for more than three years.

This man, who gives the name of Frank Mohler, was arrested in St. Louis in company with an accomplice in the street-robbing business. The confederate got scared and turned himself and his comrade inside out for the inspection of the police. Among other things, he told that Mohler had entered the cellar of the Los Angeles Postoffice in company with another man and had started to gain an entrance to the vault by removing the bricks. The pair were found at the job by a policeman, and but for his bungling both would have been captured.

Mohler acknowledged his connection with the case, but refused to tell the name of his accomplice. His record is bad, He served a four-years' sentence in a California prison under the name of Frank Rutler and another term in Colorado under his present name of Frank Mohler.

PERCY AND HIS WYER. ALL IS NOT SERENE TWINT AT-

Percy's Examination Postponed.
Collins No Longer a Star Boarder
at the County Jail—Percy Said to Be an Ex-Convict. Edward Percy, the alleged confidence an, who was arrested last Monday man, who was arrested last Monday on the charge of burglary, was to have had his preliminary examination yesterday morning, but owing to the failure of his attorney to appear at the appointed time, the case was postponed for twenty-four hours, and thereby hangs a tale.

poned for twenty-four hours, and thereby hangs a tale Sam Garrett, Esq., has been Percy's attorney up to date, but all is not se-rene between "Samivel" and his client. Garrett's failure to appear for Percy at the hour set, was due to busine at the hour set, was due to business of greater importance which demanded his attention at that time. He says he made all the haste possible to get to Justice Morrison's court to take up the case, but it was already postponed when he arrived.

Garrett did not object to the postponement, but later when he heard that Percy had told Detective Goodman that Garrett had appropriated to his own use $5 which Percy had given him with which to pay bunco-steerer Ed Collins's board in the County Jail, he was in no pleasant frame of mind, and he threatened to throw up the case. Garrett's indignation was further augmented later in the day by being toic by Mrs. Percy that she had decided to get another lawyer, because she had learned that he had been disbarred and could not practice any way.

by Mrs. Percy that she had decided to get another lawyer, because she had learned that he had been disbarred and could not practice any way.

The fact of the matter is that Garrett has not been disbarred. It is true that there is a grand jury indictmen for embezzlement against him, but he confidently expects to clear himself of this grave charge in a few days when the case comes to trial. Meantime, hiright to practice law has not been take from him, and he means to stand upoit. In order to convince Mrs. Percentrat he is a bona fide member of the har, he will be on hand to conduct he husband's case at his preliminary examination this morning, although had expected to retire from the case. Garrett explains the $5 incident it this wise. He admits getting $5 or Percy, but says he asked Percy four money on his own account, as he wadesperately in need of it, and Percowed him money for attorney's fees Percy had arranged to pay for Collins' board at the County Jail, but Garret understood that the $5 which Percy gave him was for his own use.

Collins dined at the jaller's table in the County Jail on the understanding that Percy would pay for his board but as Percy himself was arrested resoon afterward, and no money even was paid the Sheriff on Collins's account, that worthy was put back in the tanks, and now subsists on the regulation prison fare, all of which Collins thinks is very rough for a mawho has been used to living on the for the land, and convinces him about all things that the way of the trangressor is hard.

Detective Goodman yesterday refersed to have known Percy for mar years, and who says: "He is a seg. He came to the Coast in the arrange as drummer after the war. He was a drummer after the war. He was a drummer after the war. He was a drummer after the war.

When Nusnuff returned he found Scott in the act ortying on a pair of Nusnuff's trousers, while on the floor was a bundle of Nusnuff's clothes which the intruder was preparing to carry off.

"What are you doing here?" inquired Nusnuff, as he opened the door and took in the situation.

"None of your business. Get out enhere, you Dutch ———; this is mirroom," replied Scott.

Nusnuff was amazed at this brazen effrontery and tried to convince Scott that he was in the wrong room. The fellow would not listen to argument and added injury to insult by hittling Nusnuff on the nose. The outraged German grappled with the burly hobe and a hand-to-hand encounter ensued, which did not end before Scott fought his way downstairs, where Nusnuff received reinforcements and Scott was finally overpowered and held till Officer John Stephenson came along and took him to the station.

THE BULWARK OF CIVILIZATION.

There are many things in the con dition of our country upon which we cannot look with a complacent sense of security. Among these is the fact that vast areas of American soil, millions of the most fertile acres in this country have passed into the hands of aliens and foreign corporations, who are employing methods in their cultivation that are in keeping with the landlord systems of the Old World, hiring out these lands to tenants who are compelled to make all the improve ments, which are confined in many cases only to such things as their absolute necessities require, such as the humble hut for himself and family, a rude shelter for his stock and the ne essary fences about his holding. He pays also a good rental to the landlord whose only aim is to realize the largest sum possible from the land.

In a valuable article in the American Magazine of Civics, under the head Saved?" William S. Beard makes the following statements: "Within three decades, ending with 1890, the following vast land areas passed from the public domain into private control, and of "Shall the American Home be though partly redistributed into smaller holdings the change was a step toward concentration: In Kansas 21,000,000 acres (more than Ireland's area) were) granted to railway corporations. In Missouri 3,000,000 acres (equaling Wales in extent) were similarly granted. Minnesota also granted 10,000,000 acres (equal in extent to half of Scotland.) Or to cut short a monotony of citations, United States land grants to railways during this period aggregated 300,000 square miles, a greater area ate trying to make the word 'coin' (according to E. Alkinson) that is in use to produce all of the food crops of whom actions speak louder than words the entire country; more land than the combined extent of England, Scotland, Ireland and France with their seventy-five millions of population." In addition to this disposition of

Perhaps the most unique, though a less extensive manipulator of this class, is Baron William Scully of London, with some 00,000 acres in Illinois and Kansas which yielded in 1890 an average ground rent of $2 per acre, plus the axes, which the tenant always pays."

There are other facts which Mr. Beard sets forth which are not pleasant nor hopeful to contemplate, among which is a careful statement of the sus bulletin No. 26) among nearly three hundred and ninety thousand farms and home families 37 per cent, are hiring tenants, 27 per cent. are nominal owners with incumbrances, and 36 per cent. are full owners, debt free. ORPHEUM. A better combination of vaudeville specialties than those at the Orpheum this week has probably never before been presented here in one bill. Rachel Walker, the Creole nightingale, is a singer of rare ability. Here as elsewhere she has met with the highest approbation of critics and lovers of music. An exceptional feature with Miss Walker's performance is her selection of songs. Few of the great vocalists are content to sing the old favorite ballads that everyone knows and enjoys. Not so with the nightingale. "Swanee River," "The Last Rose of Summer" and like songs are among her selections.

The rest of the programme is made up of excellent specialties, and the performance is enjoyable throughout.

BURBANK. "Wife for Wife" is pleasing the audiences at this house as well as any piece in which May Nannary has yet appeared here. The strong features of the stirring melodrama are well brought out and the company is so thoroughly capable that the performances are of unusual merit. The play continues throughout the week with the usual matinee Saturday afternoon.

COMING ATTRACTIONS. Eugene O'Rourke, who is well known as a delineator of Irish character, will appear here on Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25, at the Los Angeles theater. He will present a new Irish comedy-drama, especially written for him by the author-actor, Mark Price, entitled "The Wicklow Postman." In conjunction with Mr. O'Rourke in this production, the ex-pugilistic champion, John L. Sullivan, and "Paddy" Ryan will also appear at all performances, being introduced by the famous manager and backer of athletes, Charles E. Davies, more familiarly known as "Parson" Davies. The sale of seats opens Thursday morning, February 20.

Thomas Keene, the famous American tragedian, will appear at the Los Angeles theater Wednesday and Thursday evening next, in a presentation of classic and Shakespearean drama. Rode on the Sidewalk.

Two boys were arrested by Officer Sawyer yesterday afternoon for riding their bicycles on the sidewalk. In the Police Court they gave the names of Harry Wilson and Arthur Barnes. The Wilson boy's father made a plea for him and asked for his acquittal on the ground that many others violated the ordinance and were not arrested. Judge Rossiter could not see that that mitigated young Wilson's offense, so he fined the lad $2. Papa Wilson said the boy might go to jail, but when the youngster began to cry the heart of the stern parent softened, he paid the fine and took his hopeful out of court. Young Barnes was fined $2 also; he had no money or friends to help him, so the court graciously suspended sentence in his case.

The Drs. Campbell, who occupy the next room, were called. They made an examination and found that Mendelson's attempt at suicide was rather a clumsy one. His breast was scratched in various places, but there was one central wound above the heart, which was rather ugly. The knife, however, hal struck a rib and was deflected into the nuscles of the breast instead of carsing into the inner cavity. Fortunately no artery was cut and he bled very little. The doctors said the wound was not dangerous unless from possible future complications. They considered the patient temporarily demented and accordingly notified police headquarters, whence came Officer Long, who, after a short talk with Mendelson, persuaded him to accompany the officer to the station, where he was properly cared for.

The considerations that move various persons to protest against the re-moval of the Fort Hill cemetery should not be lightly brushed aside, even though they be of a solely sentimental character. The sham battles and skirmish drills by army, navy and marine forces at San Diego demonstrate one weakness. sailors and marines are all armed with different makes of rifles of different caliber and different mechanism. In case of actual warfare it would be necessary to furnish three kinds of ammunition to such a force Duplicate parts for the repair of the rifles would necessitate an increased amount of material owing to the diversity in the patterns of the arms. If the soldiers, sailors and marines could be furnished with a uniform weapon the advantages would be obvious.

This lack of ficient distinguishing marks is causing much trouble both to passengers and employés, as the car is often past before the pedestrian can determine whether or not he wishes it to stop. If the cars are not of a different color for each line, they should at least be equipped with conspicuous sign-boards

When we talk about dress goods we talk about new dress goods-not last season's styles; not jobs but the new. bright, everyday goods that are coming to hand with each day's freight. There will be more skirt lengths sold this season twice over than ever before. There will be more shirt waists worn, twice over, than last season. A separate skirt and a half-dozen shirt waists and a wardrobe fit for the Queen of Fiesta is yours. Dress goods suitable for separate skirts is essential. They must have enough body and elasticity to make them stand out full. Some people talk about bustles.—Don't buy the hideous things. Buy dress goods that will hang in folds without the aid of the bustle and you will hit the nail square on the head. Any merchant who talks about bustles is trying to sell his last season's goods that will not hang out without the aid of a bustle. We have the dress goods that will hang out in folds, that will keep its place and always look well and the price will be no more manufacture. These goods are placed on sale to than last season's goods and hardly as much in a great many cases. A good, big, generous line. for 50c a yard. Blacks and blues will be in the lead.

Wider goods; greater variety; finer materials. All these things should be considered. We certainly recommend the 75c line. The blacks and blues are excellent. A little more wool and monair in each yard. A little finer texture. Better twisted, and this is essential for this season's styles for full skirts.

The dollar line is where the largest and finest assortment lies. Up to 50 inches wide. Blacks and all colors, including a fine line of Redfern checks. Crepons in large assortment. Pure Mohairs. Fine Brocades and rich mixtures. Plaids in limited supply. Plaids are better for winter. Better for waists. Hardly so good for separate skirts unless you want to make a big show for little money. FORT HILL CEMETERY.

Landmark Councilman Snyder Would Like to Erase.

Councilman Snyder of the Second Ward finds himself in a peculiar pre dicament by reason of a certain ceme-tery, of uncertain age, that is a land-mark in the portion of the city repreented by the genial member from the

In the early days, when Los Angeles was but a pueblo, and had not the modwas but a pueblo, and had not the modern improvements that now entitle her to distinction as a full-fledged metropolis, the handful of Americans that lived in the place established a burial ground on a sightly elevation within a few blocks of what is at this time the geographical center of the city. On Fort Hill, between Castelar street and Eglicyne avenue, land was pur-On Fort Hill, between Castelar street and Eelievue avenue, land was purchased, inclosed with a tasteful fence and, as the years passed, became the habitation of the dead, the fathers, mothers and friends of many of the men who are now prominently identified with the life of Los Angeles.

The old cemetry is deserted now.

The old cemetery is deserted now. The graves are neglected, the flowers The graves are neglected, the flowers droop and wither upon the ground, and the moldy headboards tell the melancholy story of death. For years a watchman was employed by those who had interest in the graveyard, and the place was kept in order, its sanctity preserved and traditions cherished.

But it has received no care of late.

But it has received no care of late, we the occasional attention of a bereaved man or woman, who might dec-orate the grave of a friend or relative from no other impulse than love and affection for the departed. But the cemetery has suffered from worse than eglect. Its sequestered situation has ade it the haunt and rendezvous of made it the haunt and rendezvous of vile persons, who have not scrupled to profane the place with orgies too filthy to allow of description. Men and women, and the young of both sexes, frequent the cemetery, where there is no one to molest them, and have succeeded in transforming what was once a sacred and hallowed spot to a retreat that is little better than a place of assignation.

This state of affairs was taken cognizance of recently by Councilman Snyder, in whose ward the cemetery is located, and he at once cast about to find a remedy for the trouble. After some searching of law books, an enactment of the Legislature made in 1893 was discovered, which seemed to promise relief from the nuisance. The enactment referred to reads as follows; "The City Council of any city in the State having a population of more than 1500 and not exceeding 100,000, may, by ordinance duly passed and under such lawful rules and regulations which it may adopt, provide for the exhuming, taking up and removal from cemeteries within the boundary lines of such city, or from cemeteries owned and controlled by such city that may of such city, or from cemeteries owned and controlled by such city that may have been located within its bound aries (and in which such cemeteries no interments of human remains have been made for a period of not less than two years) of all the human remains interred in such cemeteries."

It will be seen that by this statute It will be seen that by this statute power is vested in the City Council to remove bodies interred in a cemetery, when two years has elapsed from the date of the last interment. Councilman Snyder at once introduced a motion in the Council instructing the City Attorney to present an ordinance providing for the removal of the bodies in the Fort Hill Cemetery. The motion was adopted and the instructions forwarded to the City Attorney. This took place in December, of last year, but no report to the Council in the matter has ever been made by the City Attorney.

matter has ever been made by the City Attorney.

When questioned yesterday by a Times reporter at to the cause of the delay, the attorney said: "I have not reported such an ordinance to the Council for the reason that it would be impracticable to attempt the removal of bodies from this cemetery. I know the place is a nuisance and generally complained of, but to disturb the dust that rests up on the hill would raise the biggest rumpus this city ever saw. Why, ex-Mayor Workman's mother is buried there, and scores of other prominent citizens' relatives. They would stand on end and howl if their graves were touched. Besides, they have titles to the grave lots and how could removals be made under such circumstances? We have no place to put the bodies, when we exhume them, nor lave we money to pay for the work. nor tave we money to pay for the work. The statute makes no provision for any of these things, and taking all this into consideration, I did not consider it advisable to draft an ordinance compelling the removal of the cemetery, and so told the Councilmen—privately."

pelling the removal of the cemetery, and so told the Councilmen-privately." Councilman Snyder still insists that the cemetery should be moved, declaring it to be a menace to the health of the High School pupils through its proximity to the building, as well as a disgrace to the community by reason of the vile practices which the cemetery is made the scene of. The Councilman is inclined to smile at the idea of the graves being desecrated by the exhuming of the bodies, and says that the orgies now carried on in the burial ground are much more of a desecration than any removal of the graves could be. Snyder is inclined to push the affair, and may, at the next meeting of the Council, insist upon a report from the City Attorney in the matter.

Trial of Nichols Results in a Disagreement.

car conductor, accused of the murder of J. W. Kirk, and to his attorneys and friends, for the jury took just five hours to agree to disagree about the measure of his gufit.

The instructions given on behalf of the people did not appear to Judge Smith to contain just the law points applicable to the case, so he added some of his own, and on the last one of these the whole case turned. The line of argument adopted by the defense was that of excusable homicide, while the District Attorney, of course, attempted to prove murder. Judge Smith took the ground that the offense came under the head of involuntary mansiaughter. The instruction upon which he put the most stress was that if, at the time of the blow which resulted in Kirk's death, Nichols was not a law-breaker in any sense, then he should be acquitted; but, if any charge of assault or battery could have been legally preferred against him in striking the blow, then it was not self-defense, and he would be guilty of involuntary manslaughter.

The jury returned once for further instructions at 5 p.m., the question at issue being whether or not Nichols could be justified in striking Kirk after he was off the car. At 5:25 the jurors filed into the courtroom and announced that they could not agree. The Judge at once dischagred them, and renianded Nichols to the custody of the Sheriff, ordering the case to be placed upon the call calendar for a new trial. The jury stood seven to five for conviction of manslaughter.

Judge Shaw at last took the examination into his own hands and forged the reluctant admission from Boyer that he had intentionally deserted his wife at Laramie City. In view of this fact and the evidence that Mrs. Boyer had been deceived by the glowing representations of her husband as to his home and fruit ranch, Judge Shaw called a halt in the evidence, and granted the decree on the ground of desertion, the charges of cruelty and neglect not being borne out by sufficient evidence to make them stand.

Mrs. Boyer was given her child, and the matter of alimony was left open. No denite order was made, as it appeared that Boyer did not possess even the traditional "bean" of his own, the place upon which they had lived belonging to Boyer pere, with a vague understanding that the son should have it when he had worked sufficiently to pay off the debt. As that event seemed, to all appearance, as distant as the North Pole, the court could find nothing upon which to base a judgment for alimony. If any property comes to light, Mrs. Boyer will be awarded support for herself and her boy.

Judge Pierce, sitting in Department

Judge Pierce, sitting in Department Two yesterday in the absence of Judge Clark, decided that a horse and vehicle used by a person hired by a laundryman to collect and distribute clothes is exempt from execution and cannot be taken on an attachment in a sult against the owner for a debt. The case in which the decision was rendered was one which came up on appeal from the Justice's Court and was entitled S. B. Manis vs. John R. Slater. W. P. James, Deputy District Attorney, appeared for the plaintiff and W. E. Arthur, City Attorney of Pasadena, for the defendant and appellant. Slater is the constable of Pasadena township and he levied an attachment upon the horse and cart of Mr. Manis, in a suit brought by Munger Bros. of Pasadena, to recover an amount due on a grocery bill from Manis. Manis is a poor man, and he was dependent upon the use of the rig in procuring a living for his family. Upon the advise of his attorneys he demanded the return of the cart and mare from Slater on the ground that the same were exempt from execution, but the Pasadena constable refused to turn them over. Suit was brought against the constable and decided in favor of Mr. James's client. Slater appealed to the Superior Court and it was at the Mr. James's client. Slater appealed to the Superior Court and it was at the trial on appeal that Judge Pierce again gave judgment for Mr. Manis yester-day and affirmed the decision of the

Mr. Bennett, the reporter who wrote the story, was then called and testified to having heard Mrs. Simmons's complaint to the District Attorney. He afterward interviewed Mrs. Simmons and verified her story, making still more sure of the facts in the case by hunting up the papers in the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Brant against her husband, in which she alleged that he had frequently accused her of improper behavior and want of chastity. The afternoon was taken up with the testimony of character witnesses put on in behalf of Mrs. Brant-Westerfield, in which it appeared that she had two reputations, one among the people with whom she dealt on her milk route, and the other among her more immediate circle of acquaintances.

Dispute Between Relatives Over Mrs. Armstrong's Property.

Mrs. Eliza E. Armstrong, an aged widow 77 years old, sat in Judge Shaw's court yesterday, listening anxiously to the contest which was going on between her brother, Reuben Hoover, and her son-in-law, A. F. M. Strong, for the trusteeship of her personal property, notably several notes and mortgages of trusteeship of her personal property, notably several notes and mortgages of some value.

When her husband, William Armstrong, died, it is alleged by the defendant in this case that he left his property in the hands of his son-in-law. Mr. Strong, to use to the best advantage for the benefit of the aged widow. Mr. Strong asserts that he did so until several months ago suit was brought against him by Reuben Hoover, who alleged that he himself was the trustee of his sister, Mrs. Armstrong, and demanded an accounting from Mr. Strong, whose agency, he asserted, had terminated early in 1895.

This suit was on trial yesterday, and, in answer, Mr. Strong alleges that he never was the agent of Mrs. Armstrong but simply the trustee appointed by her husband before his death, to look after her affairs, as she was totally unused to business. Mr. Strong asserts that Mr. Hoover has prejudiced Mrs. Armstrong's mind against himself and his wife, by telling her that they meant to put her in an asylum for imbeciles, and that they were tired of taking care of "grandma" and her property.

These insinuations Mr. and Mrs.

These insinuations Mr. and Mrs. Strong indignantly deny, and express their perfect willingness to go on caring for the old lady as long as she lives. The case was continued until today for argument.

A COMPROMISED CASE.

tion of Plaintiff. A suit involving $2000 worth of opera costumes and stage properties was dismissed yesterday by Judge Shaw upon motion of the plaint.ff, the affair hav.ng been settled out of court. The case was an action for $5000 damages and to compel delivery of goods, brought by William Wolff against Martin Lehman. Wolff asserts that he bought from Lehman a lot of fanciful costumes, royal robes, suits of armor, swords, helmets, stage jewels, buskins, tights, etc., suitable for use in the operas of "Faust" and "Carmen," and had paid for them the sum of $2000. Lehman had refused to deliver the goods, and Wolff had sued to obtain them, and for damages on account of the delay and inconvenience. The quarrel was evidently made up, and peace reigns again, as Mr. Wolff withdraws his complaint. A suit involving $2000 worth of opera The Board of Fire Commissioners met in regular session yesterday. Commissioner Kuhrts, in the absence of the Mayor, acted as chairman of the board. Chief Moore, in accordance with recent instructions given him, presented a list of the department members wearing badges. He has called in eight badges worn by persons who are not entitled to them.

A member of the firm of Liewellyn Bros. appeared before the board and protested against the action of the board in cutting a recent bill from the firm for machinery repairs, from $155 to $75. Mr. Liewellyn declared that of law and without any circumstances which rendered it strictly necessary, and so he escaped as completely in the eyes of the law as if he had betaken himself to the uttermost ends of the earth, instead of merely going to political meetings, taking buggy-rides, attending the theater and the like.

The evidence produced was almost identical with that given at the former trial. But the jury found it much easier to make up its mind than did the former one, which disagreed. When Judge Wellborn called for the verdict the foreman rose and answered, "Guilty." The jury unanimously recommended extreme mercy. Col. Paris, the defendant's attorney, contended that the offense was merely technical and suggested that a light fine would about fit the case. District Attorney Denis stated that since this was the first time a case of this kind had been tried in Southern California and since this prosecution had already had the desired effect of deterring any other jailer from letting his Federal prisoners go to the theater, he did not think the government need ask for a severe sentence.

So Judge Wellborn sat and pondered.

the government need ask for a severe sentence.

So Judge Wellborn sat and pondered. He said that when a man willfully and knowingly brought the whole machinery of justice into disrepute and allowed the prisoners in his charge to go to theaters, political meetings, etc., it was difficult to find language severe and blistering enough to express the condemnation the offense deserves, but the judge said that on the whole he was disposed to take the view that Brown did not understand his fault. His Honor said that he had great doubts about a fine covering the case. And so, at length, Judge Wellborn sentenced Brown to two months imprisonment in the San Bernardino county jail. Newton Brown's brother, who has been associated with Col. Paris in the prisoner's defense, asked Mr. Denis to dismiss the other case against the ex-jailer. Mr. Denis replied that in all probability the case would never be pressed, but refused to dismiss it without further thought.

COME AT LAST.

The Mandate Against Clune, Stan Clune, Stanwood and Ross will at last

see the inside of prison walls. The long-awaited manadate of the Supreme Court has at last come. The clerk of the District Court filled out the writ last evening, and now the machinery of the law will quickly hoist the three months.

Clune, Stanwood, Ross and Johnson are four of the A.R.U. men who disturbed railway traffic during the great strikes of 1894. Judge Ross of the Circuit Court sentenced them to eighteen months' Imprisonment for conspiracy to interfere with the United States mails and for contempt of court. The case was carried on up to the Supreme Court of the United States and Judge Ross's decision sustained. This was Ross's decision sustained. This was four months ago. But the days wen by, a long procession of them, and still the mandate came not, until yesterday four months overdue. Clune, Stanwood and Ross will now serve their sentences. The fourth man, Johnson, fell sick while first in jail and was pardoned by Gov. Budd.

tinguishing characteristic was the cheerful grin upon his face. She was a neat little body who looked far more anxious than her lord and master.

Col. Paris was the man's attorney. He told the court that the witnesses upon whom his client had relied to vindicate him had gotten beyond reach, one having moved to El Paso and the rest being railroad men who were forever on the move. Since this would render it a very difficult matter for the defense to win its case, Epimenlo Antevedas had resolved to withdraw his plea of not guilty and throw himself upon the mercy of the court.

Dist.-Atty Denis said that as far as he could learn the prisoner had transgressed but this once. Antevedas is a Mexican peddler. While wandering through the eastern part of San Pernardino county he fell in with a band of Indians, and, upon their earnest sollcitation, sold them one bottle of doing it for pecuniary gain. Mr. Denis joined Col. Paris in asking mercy for the prisoner.

So Judge Wellborn condemned the cheerful grin upon his face. She was grand success, and the newspapers will

So Judge Wellborn condemned the offending Mex'crn to y'eld up the one silver dollar which the Indians had given him and to spend ten days in the San Bernardino County Jail.

Then Col. Paris hurried over to Mrs. Antevedas and held his ten fingers spread open before her, and Tommy Botello whispered a few welcome Spanish words in her ear, whereat a look of much satisfaction and relief beamed forth on the little woman's face.

"Doctor, if you can spare me a few moents this morning, our readers are interested in this new instrument for photograph ing the brain and organs of the body, and anything you may say will be of interest

The possi bilities of electricity in medicine are beyon able fact of all is the indiscriminate use electricity by every medical Tom, Dick and Harry. If I should tell you that we have alost a hundred different forms of electrical modification and appreciation you would hardly believe it, but it is a fact, and today some of our most remarkable cures are du to a skillful application of this natural rem edy. We are all enthusiastic over this lates nvention. Just imagine the enormous strides that the practice of medicine must take from this grand invention. And yet it is a pity that some of our brilliant medical work ers had not the glory, as well as the fame, of this most important discovery. Now we can look into a man's liver and see what part of the organ is out of function; scru-tinize his lungs, and, detecting the morbid condition, note the effect of our remedies." "But, Doctor, wouldn't it be a sort of give away' on some of us?"

"Well, yes, if our wives and sweethearts took a peep, they might be able to compare our 'midnight excuses' with the contents of our stomachs, and that wouldn't be ever a little entertaining for some of us plaus able chaps. But, I tell you, my dear sir medicine has at last made a step forward and it is many years since she took her las step. We have pinned our faith to man of practical results has laid aside such reme dies as Koch's Tuberculine, Brown-Sequard' Elixir, Chian Turpentine, and now Antitoxine, is going the way of the gold cure But with the cathode instrument we may hope to place medicine in the role of exact sciences. The Endoscope now enables us t light up the orifices and even explore the stomach and various ducts of the body."

"Yes, but how can the ordinary physicia afford these costly instruments, doctor? What physician could hope to possess such a complete array of instruments as you have about "That is, unfortunately, true, my dear sir, for our apparatus and instrume small fortune, and we are constantly seeking the latest inventions, in order to afford ou patients the best that skill and money can produce. Here are the Ozoon Manikins, that cost a snug sum in themselves, but nothing more perfect was ever constructed, and we are the only physicians on this Coast who ssess them. AN ALLEGED MURDERER GIVES HIMSELF UP.

William Walters Says He Shot a Mah in Alabama Six Years Ago for Which He Surrenders Him-

William Walters walked into the Firiff's office yesterday afternoon and said he desired to give himself up for shooting a man in Tuscilosa county, Alatersa, in April, 1890. Walters is a typical Southerner of the lower class. He has a low forehead he lower discount for the speaks the Southern dialect and does not impress one as being of a high grade of intelligence. His demeasor is that of a man who is either biuntly honest, or mentally unbalanced. Sheriff Burr was at first inclined to believe that the man was crazy. In believe that the man was crazy. In order to set doubt at rest, he tele-graphed to the Sheriff of Tuscaloosa graphed to the Sheriff of Tuscaloosa county, Alabama, inquiring whether such a man was wanted there for murder. He received the reply:

"Hold Walters. Will send officer with requisition papers at once.
"E. MOORE, Sheriff."
This satisfied Sheriff Burr, and he had Walters locked up in the County Jall, where a Times reporter saw the prisoner last evening, and learned his story.

had Walters locked up in the County Jall, where a Times reporter saw the prisoner last evening, and learned his story.

Walters said he was working at the coal mines near Tuscaloosa in 1890. One day in April he and a friend named Martin Davis were riding along a dountry road. They met several other mounted men who were supplied with whisky. Both parties dismounted and Walters bought some whisky of Paux Maddox, one of the other party, paying him for the liquor. They had several drinks together, after which Maddox again asked for pay. Walters said he had already paid, whereupon Maddox struck him on the forehead with a whisky bottle. Walters retaliated by drawing his revolver and putting a bullet through Maddox's body. Maddox fell in the road and Walters walked away from the place, leaving his horse, which was a borrowed one, in care of his friend Martin.

Nobody tried to stop him when helft. He made his way to the Tennessee River, where he took a boat and went down the Tennessee and Ohlo rivers to the Mississippl, where he boarded a train for the Pacific Coast, going to the State of Washington.

He worked in logging camps there for several years, then went to Oregon. At Salem, Or., he was arersted and kept in jail for more than two years without ever having a trial or being told what he was in for. He was released before last Christmas and went back to Washington, where he worked till he got enough money to pay his way to California. He took a boat from Seattie to San Francisco, leaving there immediately by the Southern Pacific for Los Angeles. Arriving here Tuesday evening, he decided to give himself up to the Sheriff and did so at the earliest opportunity.

day evening, he decided to give himself up to the Sheriff and did so at the earliest opportunity.

The part of Walters's story that seems gauzy and made the Sheriff think he was crazy, was the statement that he was kept in jail for two years at Salem, Or., without a trial. The rest of his story seems plausible. He has a scar over his left eye, where he alleges Maddox struck him with a whisky bottle. He says Maddox was almost a stranger to him. He had seen him once or twice before, but was not acquainted with him, and there was no trouble between them.

Walters pretended not to know whether he killed Maddox or not. He left him lying in the road badly wounded, but he never heard whether he died.

When asked why he surrendered himself after all these years, Walters said he always felt uneasy, thinking his whereabouts might be discovered, and he be taken back to Alabama and thus lose whatever property he might succeed in accumulating here in the west. At last he came to the conclusion that the best thing for him to do was to go back and face the courts, feeling assured that he would be acquitted on the grounds of self-defense, and thus be at liberty to go where he pleased without the fear of arrest always hanging over his head.

Walters insists that his story about the least insists that his story about his least interest and the self-least was a sured that he would be acquitted on the grounds of self-defense, and thus be at liberty to go where he pleased without his least insists that his story about his least story a Walters insists that his story about his long imprisonment at Salem, Ore., without cause, is true.

Sarmense has managed to keep out of trouble of late, but Officers Harris and Henderson of the Chinatown and tenderloin beats, came to the conclusion that it was about time to "vag" Joseph once more. Clothing Thieves Punished.

Jim Green and Thomas McDermott, clothing thieves, who got sixty and minety days in the City Jail, respectively. The police are making it uncomfortable for the hobos who hang around the cheap clothing stores on Main and adjacent streets, for the purpose of snatching garments which are usually "soaked" for drinks. Stealing coats and trousers at one second-hand store to sell at another is an old trick, but a good many of the persons who practice it get caught, and the chaingang is their inevitable fate.

of San Francisco.

The entire cargo of the vessel Enoch Talbot, now moored at San Pedro, amounting to 7000 barrels of oil, was purchased yesterday by the Arctic Company's manager, J. M. Knowles. It was announced in The Times of yesterday that Mr. Knowles was in the city for the purpose of making oil contracts, his concern having previously secured the right to handle the exchange's business in San Francisco.

It took Mr. Knowles very little time to bargain with the exchange people for the 7000 barrels of oil now stored in the Enoch Talbot at San Pedro, and the price paid for the consignment was so satisfactory that the members of the exchange were indulging in smiles of content throughout the day. The sum received for the oil will net the producer 56 cents a barrel cash, at the wells.

It will be remembered that when the exchange, a few weeks ago, organized and raised the price of oil from 30 to 50 cents a barrel, the opinion was freely expressed that the advance could not be made to stick. The organization has proved so successful that, in the short time since its formation, oil has been placed on the firmest footing it ever had in Los Angeles.

The sale of 7000 barrels at 56 cents net, breaks the record of sales, and has convinced the doubting ones that oil has but just begun to climb. Conservative producers are estimating that in less than sixty days, oil will be selling for $1 a barrel. The surplus of the product has been almost entirely disposed of through the large sales of the past week, and the consequent comparative scarcity of the oily fluid will contribute to the anticipated advance. The entire cargo of the vessel En

The Peace of San Antonio Again

Disturbed. The classic shades of San Antonic have again been disturbed by a partic ularly mundane row, in which Marius Long fell foul of a property-owner named Rich. It appears that Mr. Rich had a gang of men working for him, who owed Long a bill that matched his name, for liquid refreshments dis-pensed at different periods. The men name, for liquid refreshments dispensed at different periods. The men were paid off by Rich, but neglected to pay Long. The latter personage, by some peculiar logic of his own, arrived at the conclusion that Rich was responsible for the amount of his bill.

He demanded it, accordingly, and, needless to say, was peremptorily refused. Long procured a species of slung-shot, made of a piece of lead attached to a string, and threatened to "biff". Rich with it, to the serious damage of the gray matter in the skull of the latter. The threat was not carried into execution, and Rich went to the constable at Downey and had Long arrested for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. He then went to Deputy District Attorney Willis for a complaint, but, as it did not appear that the assault bat actually been made, and as the law has not been considered a deadly weapon since the days of Samson, the felony charge was dismissed, and a complaint issued against Long for disturbing the peace.

Thomas J. Gallagher, who is Irish, and Mrs. A. It appears that Gallagher and Mrs. Sweeney, who have been doing a sort of domestic partnership business in the neighborhood of Third and Alameda streets, became embroiled with a colored family, and the air was fairly blue with epithets expressed in various languages. The result was that the colored people had Gallagher and "Dutch Mary" arrested for disturbing the peace. They pleaded guilty, had their trial set for February 24, and were released on their own recognizance.

An "Art Loan."

There was an amusing entertainment at the Spalding Tuesday evening, which was called an "Art Loan Exhibition" Slips of paper were furnished to the guests, upon which a list of the names of famous painters was arranged.

Arthur resigning, which appeared in the issue of that sheet February 19, three days after Arthur had consented to remain, is characteristic of the quality of its Pasadena news. The Trustees from the first took the resignation with perfect calmness, and even should Mr. Arthur resign, after the election in April, it would not be necessary "for Los Angeles to loan a lawyer" to Pasadena, as suggested by the paper referred to, for there are several lawyers in Pasadena who are willing to sacrifice themselves for the good of the community, and in consideration of the salary attached to the office, advise the city solons.

was discussed, and it was decided to give the visitors a drive about the city. The matter of forming a protective association, for the benefit of creditors, was discussed, and at was decided to form such an adjunct to the Board of Trade to protect its members against loss from persons who have no financial standing. A correct private estimate of the unsafe people will be kept where members of the board may have access to it. Mr. Greer presented the subject to the board, and he, Mr. Lockett and T. J. Martin were appointed a committee to form the nucleus of such an organization and to report some plan for the same at Friday's meeting.

"WHAT IS ART!"

A Company that Teaches Art by the Cubic Yard.

A Company that Teaches Art by the Cubic Yard.

The question, "What is Art," has been answered by an individual in Pasadena evidently to his own satisfaction, but not altogether to that of some of his "pupils." For several months a firm in town, which passes under the name of "De Mar & Co.," has largely advertised its business, and called upon the gullible to come and learn and receive thereafter the magnificent salary of $10 weekly for teaching the same, a week being the time stipulated for learning this wondrous "art" so well that it could easily be imparted.

The Star of Tuesday made an exposition of the methods of the firm, having been urged to the course by people who allege that they have been victimized, and that after paying their money upon one pretext or another they have been refused the situation promised. In the last few months hundreds of people have answered these advertisements, and it is said that the new pupils have been kept from mixing with the old, and that a system of espionage has been practiced by those in the employ of the firm to prevent such communication as would "give the thing away" to the guillible.

That only the guillible have been victimized, is evident, for any educated person who knows the least of art would hardly take seriously the professions of the little Frenchman at the head of the local "firm," whose specimens include gaudy eagles upon cloth of various sorts, kiltens in all the picture-card contortions, copies of posters of actresses in high color and low gowns, tapestries that make the Gobelins of old pale by the gaudy contrast, and all the horrors on canvas, silk, bolting-cloth, calico, and the like, that ever made farmmouse parlors hideous nightmares, or vitiated the taste of people who know as much about art as bolting-cloth, callco, and the like, that ever made farmhouse parlors hideous nightmares, or vitiated the taste of people who know as much about art as they do about Choctaw. A "wonderful process," which is nothing more nor less than the enlarging of small pictures by a mechanical implement known since the days of Tubal Cain, probably, and surely since the days of Cheops, and filling them in with liquid paints, is the "art which is fleeting," and can be learned in a week.

It is said one female in her wild enthusiasm for this lurid sort of decorative divertisement, pledged her wedding ring to get money enough to learn it tive divertisement, pledged her wedding ring to get money enough to learn it and teach it, but as yet she has not been given the privilege of imparting to the world her acquirement; and that another placed in pawn a brooch, valuable in itself, and prized as a memento of happier days, and that when the "company" got the brooch, they had no use for her.

Who "De Mar" is, cannot be ascertined, but it is thought that the name was suggested by a popular brand of varnish, something in the same way that Dickens chose Veneering as the sobriquet for a brilliant and deceptive character in one of his novels. So far as is known here, "De Mar" has never been visible. A man by the name of femulating or January as the as is known ere. The Mar has never been visible. A man by the name of Gervaise, or Jarvaise, appears as the head of the institution, and it is with him that a large and indignant quota of students feel aggreeded and hurt. It is certainly true, that whatever merits the "De Mar & Co." system may have, a large number of poor peo ple, eager for employment, have been induced to pay into the hands of the induced to pay into the hands of the firm money with the verbal agreement that they should have work, and that they shave been grievously disappointed. It is also true that "De Mar & Co." have been clever enough to protect themselves against those people, and that no redress is possible, unless they have witness to their verbal agreement with the head of the firm.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Los Angeles, Feb. 19, 1896. NEW YORK AND BOSTON BANKS. An interesting fact, and one not generally known, is that although Boston has only fifty-six banks, members of the Boston Clearing-house, as against ninety-two in New York, members of the New York Clearing-house, the capital stock of the Boston banks is nearly as great as that of the New York banks. The aggregate capital of the fifty-six Boston banks is $51,850,000, banks. The aggregate capital of the fifty-six Boston banks is $51,850,000, while the aggregate capital of the ninety-two New York banks is only $61,122,700. The volume of business done by the New York banks is, however, greatly in excess of that of the Boston banks, notwithstanding that the amount of capital invested is nearly the same in both, and much larger, proportionately, in the case of the Boston banks. The official statement for the week ended February 8 shows that the New York banks had $448,431,800 out on loan, whereas the Boston banks had only $160,884,000 out on loan. In the case of New York the total amount loaned was seven and one-third times greater than the combined capital stock of the banks, while in the case of Boston the amount out on loan was only three and one-tenth times greater than the combined capital stock of the banks.

Another interesting feature of the New York banks is the enormous amount of the transactions of the Chemical National banks when compared with its comparatively small capital. The capital of that bank is only $300,000 but its loans amount to $21,979,400. In this respect it is exceeded by only one other New York bank, the American Exchange National, the loans of which amount to $24,170,000.

the loans of which amount to $24,170,000. On the other hand the capital stock of this bank is $5,000,000, as against only $300,000 of the Chemical National.

COMMERCIAL.

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY. Comparatively few people realize the vast importance of the poultry industry of the United States. According to the American Agriculturist, the industry has grown as follows in the past fifteen years, in round millions of dollars:

years, in round minions of donars.

Number of fowls ... 383 286 126

Dozens of eggs ... 1141 820 457

Total value ... $343 $275 $118

Despite the big increase in the poultry business in the last five years, and try business in the last five years, and the close attention now given it, ther is room for still greater expansion be-fore it is overdone. Figures relating to the industry, just compiled, enormous as they are, fail to show any general overproduction. These conclusions are reached after a study of advance proofs of census statistics never before printed the home market situation, together with official figures suggesting possi-bilities of foreign outlet for poultry products, and most careful deductions from other available data.

The Agriculturist says:
"The magnitude of the poultry business is never imagined by those who have not made a study of the situation. In round numbers our figures show what may be termed a permanent investment of $340,000,000 in poultry in this country. This is reached on the basis of an average valuation of fowls 50 cents each, turkeys, ducks and geese $1, eggs 12 cents per dozen. Considering the vast amount of money invested in breeds of fancy strains throughout breeds of fancy strains throughou the entire country, which will do some-thing to bring up the average value of barnyard fowls, together with the rel-atively higher values of both poultry atively higher values of both poultry and eggs in producing sections adjacent to large cities, especially in the East, these estimates are conservative. "During the past three years, and in spite of a duty of 3 to 5 cents per dozen, nearly 8,000,000 dozen eggs have been imported into the United States, worth about $1,000,000. Canada supplies nearly all these, yet far-off China ships a considerable number each year to our Pacific Coast ports."

A trade which represents such an enormous amount of money is certainly

A trade which represents such an enormous amount of money is certainly worth cultivating to the utmost. In view of these figures, the request of the poultry men that a special division of the Department of Agriculture should be devoted to their industry is reasonable. The dealer in eggs and poultry has a right to hold up his head as high as the grain broker or the porkpacker.

has not proved very successful to a majority of them. This is not the fault of American properties, but of the exorbitant profits demanded and obtained by the "promoters," who worked up the companies. Their only object was to float the securities at the highest possible price. The twelve principal American brewerles quoted on the London market represent an investment of no less than £15.418,000, or over $77,000.000. A London financial paper recently published a statement showing the condition of these twelve Anglo-American brewery organizations, contrasting the profits that have been certified in the prospectuses with the actual results. Of the twelve companies, four have paid no dividend at all on the preferred shares, while eight have paid no dividend at all on the ordinary shares. The others have paid from 3 to 10 per cent. on ordinary shares, and from 7½ to 12 per cent, on preferred shares. It is not surprising that transactions in these properties are reported to be very slow on the London exchange. As stated, the Britishers are themselves to blame for their losses, having permitted themselves to be misled by designing promoters, who expected to make about haif the profits of a deal before it was offered to the public.

If the British public would exercise of a deal before it was offered to the public.

If the British public would exercise a little more of that business sense which is shown by it when making investments in foreign countries there would be less complaint about losses in foreign enterprises. The manner in which some of these American enterprises are cooked up for British consumption, and the avidity with which the Britishers frequently swallow the food that has been prepared for them, evoite the astonishment of Americans.

(BY ASNOLATED PRESS WHEE.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—There was a very fair speculative trade in wheat, though the range was moderate at 14c. The early trend was upward, and during the first half hour May sold 35e better than it closed yesterday, the strength being caused by zero weather at many sections of the winter wheat beit, with apprehension of crop damage, as there are some large areas not protected by snow. The demand was promptly met, and the buyers began to reduce their bids. Liverpool came 34d lower, domestic markets turned heavy, and many of the early buyers lost conidence and began to sell out, and the price declined. The weakness brought out more orders, and there was continued liquidation and short selling, which occasionally sent the price off 13c from the top figures early. New York was also said to have generous selling orders, and many operators sold heavily. But later it was reported that cash wheat to the extent of 100,000 bushels had been taken, and twenty boatloads at New York, and there was a good recovery. May shorts covering. The continued moderate deliveries in the Northwest also had a strengthening influence, and before noon there had been a recovery of 3c. No patients are taken who cannot receive benefit from the treatment, and no effort is spared to accomplish a quick and permanent cure in every case. As "Electricity is Life," Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt gives new life to people who are weak or sick. It is the modern health-giver. Every moment that the belt is on the body its stimulating power is felt permeating the entire body. Its electric current is always perceptible, and by a p tent screw regulator it is made mild or strong at the will of the patient. No other electric belt has this attachmeut, and it is indispensable to convenient use and the most effective results. indispensable to convenient use and the most effective results.

Will This Convince You?

"Your Dr. Sanden Electric Belt cured me in eight days of Sciatica, with which I had suffered for two years," writes John K. Knox, mechanic at Mare Island Navy Yard, Vallejo, Cal. January 22, 1896.

"I got your belt in August last for nervous prostration and female weakness. I could not sleep, and sometimes got so weak I was unable to hold my head up. I found relief at once from the belt, and am today as strong as any woman of my age." Mrs. Amelia Quinn, 298 Richland avenue. San Francisco, January 22, 1896.

"I was troubled for seven or eight years with a 'catch,' or 'stitch,' in the small of my back, accompanied with a dull, heavy pain. I used your belt two months and the pain was cured. That was two years ago, and the pain has not returned." J. H. Price, Ranier, Or

No one can doubt these daily reported cures. The value of an Electric Belt is in the good that it does. Every day you see or hear of some new cure by Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt. It must cure, for it is made according to the latest scientific models, and is applied in the most effective manner, so that the healing and strengthening force of the current is absorbed into the parts which are weak. LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION. Addresses on Means of Saving the Children.

The regular meeting of the Los Angeles W.C.T.U. was held yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist Church. The general topic of the day was the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and several able addresses were given on the theme. "Save the Children." A large number of ladies were present to listen to the papers and participate in the discussion. Mrs. Lucy Blanchard, president of the society, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Celia Noll, in her address, spoke of the power of heredity as seen in many of the children and youth of the land. In a school the nervous, restless pupil could be safely singled out as the child of those addicted to either the liquor or tobacco habit. The growing use of cigarettes was also characterized as a grave evil. Many young people are not able to endure great exertion on account of the heart action being weak. This is also due in a measure to heredity. The Loyal Temperance Legion endeavors to teach the pupils who come under their influence the injurious effects of tobacco and liquor on the nervous system. They also aim, by love and persuasion, to guide the moral nature aright.

The L.T.L. is preparing several classes for graduation and these young people can become members of the State Loyal Temperance Legion.

Mrs. L. B. Turnbull of the King's Daughters' Day Nursery gave some account of the labors of that institution, which is approaching its first anniversary. They aim to instill habits of truthfulness, order, cleanliness and obedience in the children, and also through them to elevate the parents. Mrs. Victoria Bannister, county superintendent of the W.C.T.U., gave the concluding address of the afternoon. The speaker pointed to the necessity of Christian temperance training for the young. The qualifications for a L.T.L. teacher comprized love, stability, tact and unselfish devotion. The expressed sentiment of all was that parents and teachers should unite to aid the highest mental, moral and spiritual development of the child.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

LIVELY CIRCUS WITNESSED IN THE CITY COUNCIL.

Trying to Bring the City to Time on the Water Proposition—Filed on Water of the San Luis Rey.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) There was something of a circus in the City Council on Monday night. Taxpayer C. E. Heath asked to be heard on the question of bouncing Delegate Welisch from the Council because the latter acts as consul for San Salvador, whereas it is alleged that the charter prohibits a Councilman from holding any other office during his term as city legislator. Welisch endeavored to have Heath's speech suppressed. But Heath had his say. Welisch has aroused opposition by word with the sefforts to have new sidewalks built. Criticism of him has been keen. Welisch has been taken to task for his rapid changes of opinion on the water question. Councilman Thomas H. Dunkin, now under indictment for assault. kin, now under indictment for assault with a deadly weapon, participated in the Wellsch debate.

WHIRE THE CITY CAN GO.

It is reported that the chief promoter of the water scheme now before the Council remarks that if the city does not care to accept the contract proposed without amendments recently proposed, which will eliminate the Upper Otay reservoir from the proposition, then he would withdraw his scheme and "the city can go to h—l." Many believe that the Southern Callfornia Mountain Water Company is out of the race for a contract for a city water plant. The effort of that concern to foist on this city a reservoir which one of the Aldermen officially declares to be unfit for use, has startied the people and aroused an unexpected opposition to the scheme. People are indignant too, because a water schemer should have thus delayed the settlement of the vexed water question by, obstructing the course of legislation with a proposal which is officially declared by one of the Aldermen to embrace features that could never be accepted by sensible people.

A WATER FILING. WHI.RE THE CITY CAN GO. A WATER FILING.

The filing of a notice by Henry W. Putnam appropriating 20,000 inches of water from the San Luis Rey river to be used for irrigation and other purposes in Escondido and vicinity, and is to be conveyed in a flume, revives comment concerning a San Piego water supply from this source. Mr. Putnam is a man of large means. He has an investment of several hundred thousand dollars in the Escondido water system already completed. It is believed that. Mr. Putnam would build a water system to the city limits if he received proper encouragement and bring San Luis Rey water here. Such a plan would be one of the greatest possible benefits to the county, because it would place under water hundreds of thousands of acres of excellent land which are now entirely without water, Mr. Putnam and his associates are men of abundant means and fully able to build this great system without financial aid from the city, but before they undertook such a system they would need the almost unanimous assurance of the people that the city would buy the water.

Water Tunnel All Right - Werry About No Rain.

POMONA, Feb. 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) So many foundationless rumors concerning the flow of water from the Fleming & Becket water tunnel (for the purchase of which the people in the city of Pomona voted bonds last November) have been floating about town for several weeks, that yesterday afternoon, City Engineer W. H. Sanders, in the presence of several responsible men in Pomona, again measured the flow from the tunnel. The process of measurement was carefully and methodically made twice, between 3 and 4 p.m., and the quantity of water was found to be slightly over 126 inches. One of the men computed the flow of water at 128½ inches, but Mr. Sanders put it at 126 inches. The engineer states that the flow from all artesian wells and water tunnels in Southern California has decreased from 30 to 40 per cent. In the past three months of the dryest winter weather this region has had in nineteen years, and that winter is usually the season of the year when the flow of all artesian wells and water tunnels in this region is lowest. The flow from the Fleming & Becket tunnel has diminished from 180 to 126 inches since November I, but has not diminished since the measurement on February 2.

This is discouraging weather for the wember 1, but has not diminished since the measurement on February 2.

This is discouraging weather for the sugar-beet growers at Chino, and unless a long and soaking rain comes in the next two weeks, the Chino farmers will grow a mighty small crop for selling to the sugar factory company next summer and autumn. The grain-growers say that their planted grain can stand a week or ten days more of dry weather, but unless a rain comes at or before that time, the barley and wheat product in Pomona Valley will be the smallest grown in a number of years.

Fairmount Heights Park loaded down with conditions, against which there are strong contentions, and the deed was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Frost, Kingman and Morse to confer with Mr. Evans and see if the conditions could not be modified as to make it acceptable.

The water-rate question was brought up and created an interesting scene. The proposed ordinance provides for an increase in rates in several instances. Several members of the board are members of the water company, and a legal opinion from E. B. Stanton was presented to show that the members of the water company could not vote on the rates legally. This "cut no ice," however, as they did vote. On motion of Mr. Morse the rate of last year was adopted on a vote of three to two.

year was adopted on a vote of three to two.

The ordinance providing for the city election was read. It contains a provision for voting at the same time on the direct question of prohibition or high license. Mr. Morse opposed the measure on the ground that the the decision of the people would not be binding on the new Trustees. He cited the vote of the people at the county election favorable to prohibition and the neglect of the Trustees to pass an ordinance in conformity to the popular will expressed. He believed the election ordinance with that provision would be illegal.

Upon the arrival of the two trains with about an equal number of visitors on each, the Santa Ana brass band, at the foot of Fourth street (where there ought to be a union depot), struck up a lively tune and the visitors were piloted over to the Santa Ana Pan Newport train that was standing waiting to be loaded down to the guards. Conductor Smith soon shouted "all aboard" and away the tourists went toward Newport Beach, where several large lumber schooners were unshipping their cargoes of freight, and a modeter school of porpoises, as one of the visitors expressed it, had been driven in from midocean to sport about in the placid water at the end of the long pier for the especial benefit of the tourists. This unusual sight of so many of these monsters of the deep was indeed interesting and entertaining to the residents of Santa Ana who were scattered among the visitors, as well as to the visitors themselves. Here fishermen were pulling ashore with the little boats well-filled with choice spectmens of the finny tribe and the salt water duck, as well as the ever-present seagull, rode the mild swells with the dignity, and yet the careless non-chalence that characterizes their kind upon all such stated occasions as Santa Ana day excursions or Fourth of July basket-plcnics. SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 19 .- (Reg-SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 19.—(Regular Correspondence.) At the meeting of the City Trustees Tuesday evening a large delegation of citizens of the Second Ward were present and petitioned the Trustees to agree to appoint to the vacancy on the board such man as might be chosen at an election held

This proposition was discussed and the following resolution was then adopted: "Resolved, that the members of the Board of City Trustees hereby agree to support for a member of the Board of Trustees for the city of San Bernarof Trustees for the city of San Bernardino from Second Ward any qualified resident of that ward whom the legally-qualified electors of said ward may elect at an informal public election held in the said ward of the city of San Bernardino on Monday, March 2, 1896, the result of said election to be reported to this board on the 3d day of March, 1896; and this board further recommends that the method of procedure at said election conform as nearly as practicable to the general election laws of the State."

It was decided to leave the plans for the election to the citizens present. The adoption of this plan will be a great benefit, as it is evidently the only way out of the deadlock heretofore existing on many important questions.

The acquaintanceship ripened into friendship and before long Mr. Covington found that he could not help looking anxiously at the corner of Burlington avenue and Pico every time he passed, to see if a familiar figure were not waiting there. And Mrs. Adams got to timing her comings and goings so as to catch one particular car.

The wedding was at the charming home of the bride, on the northeast corner of Burlington and West Eleventh. Some sixty people gathered to offer their best wishes to the happy pair. The house was a bower of lovely flowers and green foliage. The air was heavy with the scent of carnations. There were huge tufts of papyrus and great bunches of callas, and smilax was festooned everywhere. The bridal party stood in an archway and above their heads hung a lovely bunch of white carnations and delicate ferns, tied with broad white satin streamers. The bride was beautiful in white brocaded satin and pearl garniture. In her hands was a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmald, Mrs. D. EDWIN OLSHAUSEN,

THE SILENT DRUMMER.

(Age of Steel:) The greatest commercial drummer of the present age is the rightly-placed advertisement. It never three, has no hotel expenses, needs no mileage ticket and finds its way everywhere. A slight charge pays for its transmission from ocean to ocean, and from the canadas to Mexico. It travels to the outposts of civilization for the merest page of east. It is a veritable globe-Canadas to Mexico. It traveis to the outposts of civilization for the merest trifle of cost. It is a veritable globetrotter. An ad. printed in St. Louis, New York, Chicago or Cincinnati can be read, thumbed and noted in Cape Town, Calcutta, Melbourne, Tokio, Hong Kong and everywhere else. The carrier pigeon fails to travel so far, the navigator cannot overtake it, and even the ubliquitous telegraph wire has its terminal behind the footprints of an ad. Nor is this a useless race with distance, or a mere experiment in testing postal facilities. There is money in it. It has commercial value. It is the living seed of the future business crop.

The most successful business men of today recognize this fact, and keep the Advertising is not a fad, nor can it be a failure, if due prudence is taken in putting the right thing in the right place.

SWEET WINES.

Large Eastern Buyer Negotiating

B. R. Kittredge of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is probably the largest buyer in the United States of California sweet wines, returned East last Tuesday, after touring through Northern and Southern California. He passed several days in Los Angeles, visiting neighboring vineyards and cellars, and testing last year's vintage. His purchases last year of California sweet wines were over 800,000 gallons, and it is believed that if he buys here this year his purchases will not fall far short of a milion gallons. Speaking to a Times reporter about him, Guy Barham, trustee and resident agent of the California Sweet Wine Association, said Mr. Kittredge had expressed himself highly pleased with last year's vintage, pronouncing it superior to that of any previous year within his knowledge. "No." said Mr. Barham, "no sale to him has not yet been concluded. A good deal depends naturally on prices. Being so large a buyer it is just possile the Sweet Wine Association may accord Mr. Kittredge some slight concession in price, but I have no reason for stating that such will be the case.
